Additional information

Please state your reasons for intervening in this proceeding.

I am a transportation policy analyst with extensive experience researching vehicle insurance pricing innovations, particularly usage-based premiums. Usage based pricing has been identified by many experts as possible way of achieving various policy goals including consumer cost savings and affordability (savings targeting lower-income households), fairness (premiums that accurately reflect the claim costs of individual vehicles), traffic safety, and reducing traffic congestion and pollution emissions. I believe that I can make a positive contribution toward evaluating these impacts.

Please state how you are directly or sufficiently affected by the Commission's decision in this matter; or describe your experience, information, or expertise relevant to this matter that would contribute to the Commission's decision making.

As a BC resident I am affected by ICBC's insurance price structure in many ways.

My research examines how transportation pricing, including vehicle insurance rate structures, affects consumer costs and affordability, vehicle travel and risk exposure, traffic safety, traffic congestion, pollution emissions, and other provincial policy issues.

My research also investigates practical issues related to usage-based insurance pricing, including how a vehicle's travel can be measured; the advantages and disadvantages of various usage-based pricing systems; impacts on vehicle travel, crashes and claims; consumer demand for such pricing; and how ICBC can introduce such pricing with minimal financial risks. I believe that I can make a positive and unique contribution toward evaluating ICBC revenue and pricing options.

Please list the key issues you intend to address in the proceeding.

I am interested in evaluating potential ICBC revenue options and price structures in terms of strategic policy objectives including consumer savings and affordability, fairness, traffic safety, and reducing traffic congestion and pollution emissions.

I can help identify the latest research concerning insurance pricing innovations, their likely impacts and benefits, and how they can be implemented.
