Comment:
I would appreciate it if the BCUC would consider intervening in the gasoline retail racket. Prices seem unreasonable and prices go up and down in unison for no apparent reason. Price increase trends seem evident as we approach long weekends, weekends in general and pre-emptively whenever an interruption occurs somewhere in the world, whether it affects our local market or not. I live in Abbotsford and despite not having the GVRD transport tax levied here we are often the same price as the GVRD market. I would like to see the price stabilized and proportionate to cross Canada pricing considerate of local taxes and regional charges. I would like to see the BCUC regulate the market.
