Good afternoon,

I am responding to an advertisement in our local paper about the proposed public feedback regarding Site C and look forward to reading a proposed published report on the initial findings of the inquiry. I prefer to respond online rather than a community input session here in Victoria, Vancouver Island. My reason for following up with this email is also to let you know I feel Site C is a very important project for BC and should continue and not be put on hold. I believe this project is important to BC communities, Canadians and North Americans, providing energy security for future generations in a safe and responsible manner, also offering job opportunities and economic growth for our province and our country.

All the best,

Sue Myer-Paquette
