Dear British Columbia Utilities Commission,

It is obvious to me that Site C was a political decision motivated by partisan benefits, possibly related to corporate funding of the BC Liberals. This is why the Libs refused to submit the project to the BCUC. I think the cost to First Nations alone is reason to halt this project, even though so much $ has been spent. Any extra power we need can be produced through renewables, with existing hydro providing continuity of supply.

Sincerely,
Michael Wall
