

Name: Mark Haley

Date: October 11, 2017

I am in favor of terminating the project. There is precious little farmland in BC as good as the Peace River Valley. Flooding this irreplaceable land to produce electricity would be an unacceptable cost, not only to "ratepayers", but to everyone, for generations to come. Terminating the Site C project should be seen as a golden opportunity for agriculture; a solid foundation for economic growth and long-term employment in the area and a step toward food security.