Continue building the dam! Lets have some forward thinking. I don't care what the academics or protesters are trying to sell us, 20 years from now we will be using that power; guaranteed. Not only that we will have a tremendous recreational area with fishing and all manner of other things. Just look at any large dam that is built anywhere. They are recreation and destination areas.

If you go there you will find that the flooded area hasn't been and will never be much of an agricultural area and, dare I say it for fear of being labeled a racist (altho I am 20 % first nations) , it is not a sacred site and no first nations people are using the area or have probably ever used the area. And in any event again, in 20 years it will be an incredible area with more game than there is now.

Keep building. Finish it.
