Dear British Columbia Utilities Commission,

I urge you to carefully consider the impact any decisions or actions regarding this issue will have.

I urge you to recommend that the Site C Dam be rejected. Why should we allow this project to move forward, when there are so many discontent in the population. The industry is not listening to us, the general population.

Time and time again, the industry have imposed on us serious financial and environmental problems.

We, the middle class, is force to pay for things that we do not necessarily need. The industry sais that it is the only way to have electrical power. That is untrue. Numerous people have created free energy devices that do not require the flooding of land and the punishment of First Nation with White men idea of grandeur.

The financial cost of Site C is unknown. These type of budgets do not consider added cost.

I am aware that the clearing of forests have already started in the Peace region and this without the concent of the people. So why does the industry does not understand "NO." Oh yes, they will loose their bonus.

There are so many alternatives. Just look at the Web. The argument of job lost is a scare tactic. If we want free energy devices, we are going to need manpower to make them.

The project does not have the consent of the Treaty 8 First Nations. It will have a devastating impact on the treaty and Aboriginal rights of Treaty 8 First Nations. This project will eliminate First Nations' ability to continue their way of life, to hunt, fish, trap, harvest and carry out their practices on their land.

With the arguments listed above, I strongly recommend to the BC Government to cancel this project.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,
Rosemary Stephen
